

Friends of the Climate Finance Access Network,

As the end of another year approaches, we are reflecting on CFAN's successes in 2024 as well as the exciting work ahead in the new year. We couldn't have made such significant progress without you: our country and implementing partners, supporters, and advisors inspiring and helping us every step of the way. I was fortunate to join the CFAN team this past March, and I feel honored to work with and learn from all of you as we work together towards CFAN's goal of unlocking access to climate finance at scale and speed in developing countries.

Over the course of 2024 we saw our global community of practice strengthen as we now have 19 CFAN advisors across as many locations; we provided training to more than 100 individuals; we announced our expansion to Africa; and we played a key role in supporting thought leadership around the new climate finance goal.

We are deeply grateful to our donors, including Australia's Department of Foreign Affairs and Trade (DFAT), the US Department of State, Environment and Climate Change Canada (ECCC), the Islands Fund for Climate and Justice, and anonymous philanthropic support. CFAN's implementation is made possible by our implementing partners in the Pacific region, the Global Green Growth Institute (GGGI) and the Pacific Community (SPC). And our work is enhanced by the input from and connections with all of our network members; we wish a warm welcome to several new members who joined us in 2024.

Thank you so much for being with us on this journey and for making CFAN the network that it is. Here's to another year of collaboration, ambition, and impact in 2025.

Warmly,

Kaitlyn Bunker
Director, CFAN
